WHO WE ARE

JARC (Jane Addams Resource Corporation) is a nonprofit workforce development organization dedicated to building careers and breaking cycles of poverty. Founded in Chicago in 1985, JARC provides FREE, high-quality manufacturing skills training and wrap-around support services to unemployed adults and low-income workers.

Today, JARC operates across four cities: Chicago, Baltimore, Providence, and Philadelphia, helping individuals transform their lives through in-demand skills, industry-recognized credentials, and personalized job placement support.

OUR MISSION

We ensure that people who work do not live in poverty.

OUR SLOGAN

Building Careers, Supporting Communities.

OUR VISION

- Everyone who works deserves a living wage.
- Effective training opens doors to better-paying careers.
- The success of businesses and their workers are interconnected.
- A strong regional manufacturing base drives economic growth for everyone.

SUCCESS STORIES

FELIPE

CNC Machine Operator · Pace Worldwide · Baltimore

When Felipe arrived in the United States, he worked his way up from dishwasher to general manager in the restaurant industry. But at 30, he hit a ceiling. With a background in mechanical engineering from Venezuela and a hunger for something more, he went looking for a new direction.

He found JARC Baltimore's CNC training program and immediately saw a path forward. Beyond technical skills, JARC's job development sessions, mock interviews, and soft skills training prepared him for a professional world he'd never navigated before. Today, Felipe is a CNC Machine Operator at Pace Worldwide.

"The support team is great, and the program gives you freedom to succeed. It opens doors to new careers."
— Felipe, CNC Machine Operator, Pace Worldwide

DANIEL

CNC Operator · Star Hydraulics & Pneumatics · Chicago

After losing his mother in 2022, Daniel was unemployed and rebuilding his life in Chicago. He enrolled in JARC Chicago's CNC program, where JARC provided him with wrap-around support services: 13 employment coaching sessions, financial coaching, workshops on resume writing and investing, plus a stipend and work equipment.

After earning his NIMS certification in 2024, he landed a role at Star Hydraulics & Pneumatics, where he's now the only operator trusted with their newest three-quarter-million-dollar machine. He's also taking a CAD class at JARC to move into engineering and design.

"[I] never was turned away with a question or [when I] needed help."
— Daniel, CNC Operator, Star Hydraulics & Pneumatics
